FEATHERS INVADE NEW FIELDS

Muff Made of Plumage of the Peacock Is Latest Venture.

NEW AND VERY LOVELY

With Hat to Match, Is Designed for Evening Wear.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Feathers are doing the most unusual things! All season they have been in fantastic fringes from the hems of evening gowns. They've curled gracefully around the crown of hats and in wraps, scarcely as warm as they were beautiful, have hugged the shoulders of pretty women.

But as spring approaches they venture even one thing more—muffs! This Suzanne Talbot muff, like the hat, is made entirely of the plumage of the peacock. Feathers in a muff are something new! And very lovely.

Fragile, delicately beautiful, both hat and muff are designed for evening wear between seasons.

The round full crown of the hat and the straight brim are covered with copper-colored feathers, effectively irregular at the edges. Black tulle ribbon which faces the hat extends in a long streamer on the back, which is thrown loosely about the neck.

Even Careful Calomel Users are Salivated

Very Next Dose of Treacherous Drug may Start Trouble

Calomel is dangerous. It may salivate you and make you suffer fearfully from soreness of gums, tenderness of jaws and teeth, swollen tongue and excessive saliva dribbling from the mouth. Don't trust calomel. It is mercury, quicksilver.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your drugist and get a bottle of Doan's Liver Tonic for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Doan's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children. Calomel is perfectly harmless and cannot salivate.—Adv.
